RoHS

The directive no. 2011/65/EU, also known as the RoHS Directive, regulates the requirements for the use of certain dangerous substances in electrical and electronic equipment. The directive states that electrical and electronic equipment may only be placed on the market if the requirements of Article 3 (1) are met.

Through the delegated directive EU 2015/863, the inclusion of four additional substances in Annex II of the EU Directive 2011/65/EU was decided and published on June 4, 2015. This results in the following complete list of substances subject to restrictions in accordance with Article 4 (1) of EU Directive 2011/65/EU, with details of the maximum permissible concentrations in homogeneous materials in per cent by weight.

Substances	Max limit
Cadmium (Cd)	0.01 %
Lead (Pb)	0.1 %
Mercury (Hg)	0.1 %
Hexavalent chromium (Cr6+)	0.1 %
Polybrominated biphenyls (PBB)	0.1 %
Polybrominated diphenyl ethers (PBDE)	0.1 %
Bis(2-ethylhexyl) phthalate (DEHP)	0.1 %
Butyl benzyl phthalate (BBP)	0.1 %
Dibutyl phthalate (DBP)	0.1 %
Diisobutyl phthalate (DIBP)	0.1 %

We hereby confirm, based on the information available to us from our suppliers, the conformity of our supplied products with the legal regulations Directive 2011/65/EU and Delegated Directive (EU) 2015/863.

REACH

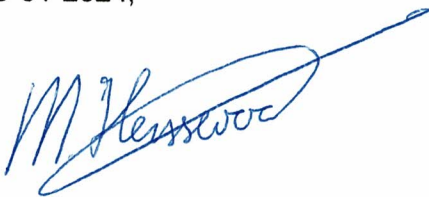

The regulation (EC) no. 1907/2006 concerning the Registration, Evaluation, Authorization and Restriction of Chemicals (REACH) obligates all suppliers, according to Article 33 (1), to inform their customers, if they use a Substance of Very High Concern (SVHC) in a concentration above 0.1 % weight by weight (w/w) in products.

To guarantee a safe usage of our products, we pull the duty to the REACH regulation. We observe the latest actualization of the SVHC candidate list as of 14 July 2023 including 235 substances, published by the European Chemicals Agency (ECHA). We didn't receive any supplier information about the usage of SVHC substance in a concentration above 0.1 % weight by weight (w/w) in our supplied products.

If we receive any new information regarding this topic, we will inform you and take suitable action. We hereby declare ourselves being compliant with the Regulation (EC) 1907/2006.

Our statements in this letter regarding RoHS & REACH compliance do not extend to, or apply to any product subjected to unintended contamination, misuse, neglect, or accident.
