Grundfos Holding A/S strives to achieve that all suppliers of raw materials and components to the Grundfos Group enter into contractual obligations to comply with the chemical legislation listed in the Focus List; <https://www.grundfos.com/about-us/suppliers.html?tab=chemical-compliance>.

To ensure that Grundfos is compliant we have taken the following initiatives:

- Grundfos has launched the Grundfos Focus List in order to give our suppliers, contractors and other relevant stakeholder worldwide a tool to help comply with chemical legislation. The Grundfos Focus List, which bans or restricts the use of certain chemical substances in Grundfos products, Grundfos production processes and at Grundfos facilities.
- Grundfos has implemented a digital platform to support the work of securing compliance with the Focus List and a better supplier collaboration to secure a high data quality and reliability.
- Grundfos continuously performs audits of their suppliers to ensure compliance with their contractual obligation to comply with the chemical legislation.
- Grundfos does not accept banned or restricted hazardous substances in their products. It is a standard task in product development projects to ensure that banned or restricted hazardous substances are not used.
- Grundfos has set the concentration threshold values of the asbestos substances to zero to ensure that its products are 100% asbestos-free.
